

FAMILY #7

(Information updated April 2021)

These are the descendants of Andres Gurulé who first married Maria Pasquala Griego and then married Josefa Montano.

Church of San Antonio de Sandia

15 Apr 1787 – Andres Montoya, natural son of Ysabel (Montoya), coyote, married Maria Pascuala Garcia, dau of Cristobal Garcia and Maria Griego

San Felipe de Neri Church

20 Jul 1803 – Andres Gurulé and Josefa Montano

Who is Ysabel Montoya and why wasn't a Gurulé father named in the record? Unknown, however it is Angela's belief that Juan Pedro Gurulé (from Family #10) is the brother to Andres Gurulé, and that Ysabel Montoya was first living in the Sandia area, north of Albuquerque in Bernalillo county, and then relocated to Valencia County. However, until a little more proof is found, Family #7 and #10 will remain separated even though they match on their DNA from several descendants.

Though Andres marries with the Montoya surname, he assumes the Gurulé surname in the 1811 marriage of his daughter Maria Dolores Gurulé:

Church of San Antonio de Sandia

19 Mar 1811 – Christoval Moya, son of Francisco Moya and Manuela Garcia, married Maria Dolores Gurulé, dau of Andres Gurulé and Pascuala Griego, residents of Los Enlames.

Where is Los Enlames? It's currently Los Lunas and located about 14 miles from Belen.

Also, others disagree with the assumption that they're brothers. One person recently claimed this Ysabel Montoya was the woman who is mentioned in "Between Two Rivers" by Joseph P. Sanchez. That particular family has been extensively researched and they are Luna's later on, not Gurulé's. Again, not the right Ysabel Montoya.

NM Roots by Fray Angelico Chavez

1710, April 28 (no. 9), Bernalillo. Miguel de San Juan (17-18), native of El Paso del Norte of unknown parentages and living here, and Dona Isabel Montoya (15), d. of Capt. Diego Montoya and Dona Josefa de Hinojos. Pair married 5 May 1710. (Prenuptial Investigation, page 1776)

And then another researcher feels this Andres is not the same as the one that's married to Pasquala Garcia, and that somebody in the Sandia/Alameda had servants with a Gurulé/Montoya family.

Note → each generation is indented...thus Andres and his first wife Maria Pascuala Garcia are parents of all children with #2 by their name. Then Maria Dolores Gurulé and her first husband Cristoval Moya are parents of all with #3 by their name, and so on....
